Bulletin

ASL Research Begins at ISD

ISD is participating in an exciting and long awaited research project with Dr. Jenny Singleton and Dr. Sam Supalla.

WHAT IS THE RESEARCH PROJECT?

The study focuses on communication practices in classrooms with profoundly deaf children. They will be comparing deaf children in "mainstream-cluster program" type classes to deaf children in programs that use American Sign Language as the language of instruction. They will explore the effectiveness of using ASL in schools upon students' linguistic, cognitive and social competence. They hope to demonstrate the enhanced abilities and potential of children who receive ASL in the classroom (such as at ISD).

WHEN WILL THE PROJECT HAPPEN?

The data collection phase will begin in September 1994 and will require three testing sessions over the course of the school year (the rough schedule will be September '94, February '95, and May '95). Each testing session will include individual administration of some cognitive tests, English reading comprehension tests, and sign language fluency tests. The tests will be administered by Research Assistant, Susan Dramin (a Deaf graduate of Gallaudet University's Program in Social Work) and Dr. Jenny Singleton (a hearing CODA-daughter of Deaf parents--fluent in ASL, and a Professor at the University of Illinois). Dramin and Singleton will also observe in several classrooms throughout the year (these visits will be scheduled in advance). Family and Student Services Center staff will be helping with the coordination of testing schedules so as to interrupt normal classroom activities as little as possible.

Special Education Grant

The special education grant to fund the expansion of ISD's computer program has been turned down. The grant, written in conjunction with Dr. Matt Maurer of Butler University, was not selected due to the intense competition of other institutions. According to Dr. Maurer, big research institutions usually get these kinds of grants.

Dr. Maurer and Dave Tester, ISD Computer Specialist, will continue working together to seek grant money for ISD's computer program.

Coalition Formed

Coalition for Deaf & Hard Of Hearing Children

The Indiana Association of the Deaf (IAD) Deaf Rights Task Force has become an independent organization, and changed its name. It is now the Coalition for Deaf and Hard Of Hearing Children (CDHHC). This was done on the advice of Larry Siegel, a lawyer from California, who met with the task force to help develop strategies to push bills through the 1995 Indiana Legislature.

Other recommendations included hiring a lobbyist, which will now become a top priority of the new organization. - Illuminator, May-June 1994

In the News

The October 3 issue of Time magazine contains an article entitled "Beyond the Sound Barrier" in its Education section. This article is about Miss America, Heather Whitestone, and the spectrum of views within the Deaf Community on her selection. It also includes an incisive history of Deaf Education in America. This article was written by David Van Biema, who also wrote the article about AIDS and the Deaf Community in Time (March 1994).

ISD in the News

An article in the Indiana State Department of Health publication, Express (Sept. 23), announcing and explaining the National Deaf Heritage Week celebration at the Indiana Deaf School.

Press Releases

Are you planning an exciting activity about which you would like the community to know? Have you considered sending out a press release? Let the nation know of the wonderful things that happen on and off campus in the ISD community by announcing your event via a press release. As part of your planning process, call VIC secretary, Barbara Clifford at extension 418 with the scoop (who?, what?, when?, where? and why?). Also indicate to which publications you would like the information sent. Let the world know about the Indiana Deaf School and the exciting things happening here.

Holiday Gift Giving

Are you looking for that special gift for the holiday season? Several new catalogs have arrived that specialize in the area of Deaf Community and Culture. Buy a unique gift this year. Catalogs may be seen in the Visitor and Information Center.

Dawn Sign Press' Fall 1994 catalog contains a variety of materials relating to sign language, Deaf Culture and educational materials.

Harris Communications' 1994 catalog features books, videos, telecommunications and assistive devices for Deaf people.

National Association of the Deaf (NAD) Fall/Winter '94-'95 catalog contains books, shirts, mugs, pins, posters, videos, rubber stamps, buttons, stationery, magnets, needlepoint, stuffed animals, computer software and much more.

Sign Media, Inc. 's 1994 Sign Language Videotape Collection catalog includes materials on Deaf Culture, sign language instruction, interpreter education, Linstok Press, entertainment and information. A special feature of this catalog is the videotape, The "PAH" Side Story. This original play (loosely based on the West Side Story) was developed and presented by the 1993 class of the Indiana Deaf School. This 90 minute video sells for $59.95 and includes a copy of the program which contains program notes and explanations of the sign play segments contained in the videotape.

Tech Prep Update

Seven students are enrolled in the Tech Prep Program this year: Misty Burdine, Deanna Burkhart, Omar Dillard, Sean McFall, Sara Reis, Crystal Templeton and Jason Wilson. This is the first year that this curriculum has been offered at ISD. Students study a core group of subjects including technology, mathematics, science and communications. Teachers show the interdisciplinary relationships between these subjects as well as their connections to the workplace while working on class projects.

The staff involved in the program are Teresa Huckleberry (science), Eric Mansfield (mathematics), Ron Borron (technology), Susan Hocker (technology), and Elen Zook (technology). The communications coursework was being covered by Judy Reynolds with Sharon Baker's assistance. Judy has recently left ISD and Tami Hossler is now assisting with this subject area.

Students are currently evaluating their computer skills, studying measurement systems in mathematics, and the scientific method in science. The communication class has been researching communication devices and will produce several presentations and papers on this topic.

Field trips to area companies are planned, Eli Lilly Corporation, WTHR Channel 13, Diversified Services, and Boehringer Mannheim. Students and staff are also hoping to go to Chicago's Science and Industry Museum in December or January, Dayton's Wright Patterson Air Force Museum in March, and Space Camp in Huntsville, Alabama in May.

Many Thanks:

I would like to personally thank James Reed and Alex Avant for their help with my van. I had dropped off my children in the 0-5 Program, got back into my car, and it would not start. Thanks again to these ISD staff members for their cooperation and willingness to help me get back on the road.

Again, thanks for your help — Lori Crohn, Parent

A Note from Carole Morgan

Thanks to everyone who has shown such wonderful kindness during one of the roughest times of our lives, the passing of our son Randy. The Love Gifts of prayers, cards, words of kindness, a listening ear and moneys have meant so much to the Morgan Family. May God Bless each of you. Thank-you so much — Charles and Carole Morgan

0-5 Center Special Thanks

Louise Fitzpatrick and the 0-5 Staff would like to thank Pamela and Donald Haring for donating boxes of puzzles to our center. The children will get a lot of use from them and many hours of enjoyment. Thanks Again!

SHAMU TV

Killer whales, sharks, rhinos, otters - what else could possibly be added to SHAMU TV? How about closed captioning? It's true. # "Historically Yours"

by Michael Reis

William H. De Motte

One of the most unusual teachers at the Indiana Deaf School was Dr. William H. De Motte, a hearing teacher who taught between 1850 and 1909. Born in Harrodsburg, Kentucky in 1830 to a minister and his wife, he graduated from Asbury College (now DePauw University) in 1848, at the young age of eighteen. His first job was a teaching position at a school in a small town near New Castle, Indiana. In 1850, De Motte started his first year as an instructor at the Indiana Deaf School (then known as the Indiana Asylum for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb) in Indianapolis.

During the War Between the States, De Motte joined the Union Army and served as a sanitary agent for Grant's Army. His office was near Ford's Theater in Washington DC. One day there was an announcement that President Lincoln and General Grant would be attending a play in the theater. De Motte and his friends wanted to see General Grant, so they bought tickets to the play. To their great disappointment, the President showed up alone because Grant was detained in Richmond. Near the end of the play, a shot rang out near the stage and a man jumped out from the President's box. William De Motte had witnessed the assassination of President Lincoln.

After the Civil War, De Motte served as president of two women's colleges in Indiana and Illinois. In 1875 he returned to the field of Deaf Education by becoming the superintendent of the Wisconsin Deaf School. In 1880, he moved on to be the superintendent of the Kansas Deaf School for two years before returning to ISD as a teacher in 1889. Mr. Richard O. Johnson, ISD's superintendent at the time, was De Motte's grandson. De Motte remained at the Indiana Deaf School for the next twenty years.

While here, De Motte produced a chapel book of one hundred pages of prayers, hymns and chapel exercises. He also conducted a Sunday School class at the Meridian Street Methodist Episcopal Church for about seventy-five Deaf adults.

Dr. William De Motte died of apoplexy on January 2, 1910, six months short of his eightieth birthday. He was still working as a teacher, even to his last day. De Motte is buried in Jacksonville, Illinois where the Illinois Deaf School is located.

editor's note: The Indiana Museum of Deaf History and Culture located in the Alumni Hall of ISD has on exhibit, a portrait of Dr. William De Motte. Also on display is an original copy of The New York Herald, April 15, 1865 announcing the assassination of President Lincoln.

'94-'95 ISD Calendar Information

The ISD school year is on a quarter system with the following number of days in each quarter.

1st Quarter	46 ½
2nd Quarter	42
3rd Quarter	48 ½
4th Quarter	43
TOTAL	180

Teachers earn the following days during the school year.

Vacation Days	9
Compensatory Days	5
TOTAL	14

Teachers will use part of the above days during forced vacations throughout the school year.

Thanksgiving	½
Winter Break	7
Spring Vacation	5
TOTAL	12 ½

Teachers, from the above figures, will earn 1 1/2 days of time during the year which will not be used for forced vacations. This extra time could result in a balance for teachers at the end of the school year.

If you should have any questions, please contact George Stailey in the Superintendent's Office at 317-924-4374, ext. 128 TTY/Voice.

Errata

Correction: In an article entitled "ISD Authors" (CB, Sept. 9), it was reported that the recent Gallaudet University Press publication, Parallel View, Education and Access for Deaf People in France and the United States had two ISD staff members as contributing editors. David Reynolds was omitted as being the author of the mentioned work entitled "The Spirit of BiBi: Two Languages and Two Cultures." Sorry for the confusion.

Staff Development

ADD Across the Lifespan--This overview of ADD will help you to identify ADD "red flags" and give you suggestions on how to obtain appropriate, comprehensive treatment. It will also address effective treatments in improving self-awareness and self control in the ADD individual.

The presenter at this conference, Dr. Liden, brings with him the experience of treating over 6,000 ADD individuals, and is the parent of an ADD child. The conference will be held at the Center for Visual and Performing Arts in Munster, Indiana. Registration is $25.

Independence and Inclusion Through Assistive Technology -- This workshop is set up three different age groups. Each of the three sessions will meet all day -- schools are encouraged to send teams to the meetings. The first is on assistive technology strategies for children birth through five. The second will focus on assistive technology strategies for students in elementary, middle and secondary school settings. The third is geared for adult consumers and vocational and/or rehabilitation personnel

This conference is being held on two different days at two different sites. The first is on October 28 at Indian Oak Resort in Chesterton, Indiana, the second on November 15 at the Holiday Inn in West Lafayette, Indiana. Registration is $25.

Sixth Annual ED-MED Conference--As always, this conference will focus on medical issues. Some of the topics that will be covered are: ADHD, Autism and Pervasive Developmental Disorder, Child Sexual Abuse, Assistive Technology, Swallow Studies and much more. The conference will be held on October 27 at the Indianapolis Convention Center. Registration is $30 (includes lunch).

Ethics for Supervisors --This course teaches supervisors the proper techniques for dealing with ethics questions and situations that arise. This class is being offered at the State Training Center October 13 from 9:00 - 11:00 am free of charge.

Performance Appraisal for Supervisors and Managers - This program describes the specific steps in evaluating the job performances of your employees. Some of the areas taught are:

- 1) Defining and prioritizing responsibilities
- 2) Defining performance criteria
- 3) Documenting job performance
- 4) Performance appraisal form, comment sheet and improvement plan
- 5) The appraisal interview

The class will be taught at the State Training Center October 13 from 9:00 am - 3:30 pm free of charge.

Telecommunications Bill Dies in US Senate

The Deaf Community has advocated for telecommunications access requirements. House of Representatives Bills 3626 and 636 as well as Senate Bill 1822 proposed:

- 1) consideration of the needs of persons with disabilities in the definition of "universal need."
- 2) requirement that the Regional Bell Operating Companies (RBOCs) manufacture equipment with consideration of disabled persons.
- 3) requirement that television programs be closed captioned for Deaf and hard of hearing.
- 4) mandate that the FCC studies the need to adopt video description services for blind individuals
- 5) mandate that the FCC studies the telecommunication needs of speech-disabled persons.

According to Senator Hollings (chair of Senate Commerce Committee and chief sponsor of the bill), this bill has died in the Senate as a result of telephone companies being against the bill.

The Bell Companies and the United States Telephone Association (USTA) deny this in The Wall Street Journal (Monday, Sept. 26). They state that Senator Hollings attempt to blame "the local phone companies is not only unfair, it is downright wrong. The phone companies have worked tirelessly to pass constructive legislation, helping pass bills in the past by overwhelming margins."

Stay tuned for the next Congressional session -- the groundwork that has been completed to-date will be the foundation for a bill next year.

1994 Flu Shots!!!

Once again the Indiana State Department of Health has purchased a large quantity of the 1994 flu vaccine at a large $$$$ savings. ISD will participate in the annual flu vaccine campaign on October 20. ISD employees can get flu shot at the Health Center anytime between 7:30 am and 7:30 pm that day. The cost is only $1.50 (correct change only). Those persons who have an allergy to eggs and/or are pregnant should not receive this vaccine without discussing it with a physician and obtaining a medical release.

REMINDER:

All school records requests should go through FSS. Please direct requests to Donna Stutler at extension #416.
